HEARING "STACKED" IS CHARGE

No Suffrage Committee Will Be Created in House, Foes Declare.

Charging the suffragists' recent hearing before the Senate Committee on Suf-frage was "stacked" in favor of votes for women, a statement issued yesterday by the Washington headquarters of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage declares: A poll taken by that organization proves the suffragists will fall in their effort to have a similar comnittee created in the House

"The membership of the House is op-posed to woman suffrage by more than 2 to 1." the statement reads, "the general attitude of Congress is that it has no right to interfere with the voting quali-fications of the various States."

Sundry Civil Comes Up Monday.

The sundry civil appropriation bill was reported to the Senate yesterday, and Chairman Martin gave notice that he will call it up for consideration Monday. The bill is identical with that passed at the last session, and an effort will be made to pass it in that shape, although deterned Republican opposition to the plan

MARKET BASKET ADVICE GIVEN BY DEPARTMENT

Agricultural Experts Tell Consu What Part of the Beef to Buy.

it is stated that "to buy meat intelligently it is necessary to know the nature of the cuts, especially with reference to the proportions of lean meat, fat."

It has often been said in such cam-ms to be no relation becheaper cuts appear to be as valuable, and in some cases, actually more so, than the higher price cuts from the standpoint of protein and energy. These statements do not take into account the factors of tenderness nor the influence the degree of fatness may have upon the palatability of cooked meat. In purchasing meat for protein primarily, the neck, shanks, and clod are the most economical cuts; the plate, chuck, flank, and round follow; with the rump, rib, and loin as the most expensive. From the standpoint of fuel value, the flank, plate, nock, and shank cuts are the cheapest, while the rib, loin, and round are the most expensive. Considering both factors, protein and fuel value and along with these the adaptability of the meat for general use, the clod, chuck, and plate are the most economical cuts at the retail prices given."

"It is proposed to make the new hospital, not a large one, but one that is large enough for some years to come, and a model of its kind, where the best treatment known to scientists and suitable quarters may be given to rich and poor slike. Such an institution will be the means of saving money and valuable lives of men, and its value cannot be estimated in floney. Nearly every city of a hundred thousand population or more is far better equipped in this particular than the National Capital, and our civic pride, as well as our individual safety, should cause us to contribute to this fund.

Lots Are Convenient.

The two lots now owned by the hospital are on New York Avenue, opposite the Corcoran Art Gallery, are admirably lo-cated, and are as near the accident center of the city as it is possible to get them out of the dust and noise. "The contemplated building is to be thoroughly fireproof, heated, lighted, and ventilated in the most approved manner. The exterior will be neat and in accord with other large buildings in the neigh-borhood, not extravagant in treatment, and nothing that conduces to the com-fort and safety of patients will be omitted in the interior. To build and equip such a building, and to accommodate he patients, it will cost about $300,000, and this is the amount that we are asking the citizens of Washington to contribute.

"In appealing for these funds, we are well aware of the fact that the Emer-The Department of Agriculture has issued a statement on the "retail buying of beef," outlining the nature of meat cuts and their food value, cost, &c., and community, and yet, without prejudice to other worthy institutions, we believe that

The report adds:

Something over three years ago the Y. W. C. A. Association asked the citizens of that place for the sum of $150,000. They actually had subscribed $157,000. Eighteen months later the Catholic Hospital of that town asked for $100,000, but secured $117.000. Four weeks ago the Y. M. C. A. organized for $300.-000 and secured that amount. What has happened in that city has happened in many, and we believe it will happen in Washington.

It is proposed to open the campaign on Monday evening. May 5, with a dinner in the old Cafe Republique, and for twelve days 200 business men of the com-munity will be appealing to the public. "SPIRITS," COURT HOLDS

Bay rum, popular for both inside and outside application, according to individual taste, is "booze."

This in effect was the decision yesterday of the Supreme Court. The question was too knotty for the New York Federal courts, who certified it to the high tribunal for the final decree.

New York importers of bay rum provoked the question. They objected to paying duty on the fluid as "alcoholic spirits." declaring it a "toilet preparation." They recited that it is composed of 50 per cent alcohol and 50 per cent water, with a "touch of bay leaf essence."

sence."
Yesterday the Supreme Court declared that the "touch" of bay leaf and its 50 per cent alcohol subjects it to taxation as "spirits" and not as tollet water.

TROUSERSONEAGLE PRECIPITATE DISCUSSION

Senators Argue About U. S. "Filthy and Proposition Against Washing Machine Loses Out.

"I should like to see tarred and feath-ered the artist who engraved our recent banknotes and put pantaloons on the American eagle. Thus wrote a prominent banker of Tennessee to Senator Martine, protesting against the continuance of the "treasury laundry," wherein bank notes are washed and returned to circulation. Senator Martine read the letter to the Senator Martine of 557 protests he had Senate as a sample of 587 protests he had may be able to wash the pantaloons off the eagle," suggested Senator Gallinger. The burden of these protests was that washing notes destroyed the distinctness of the engraving and made the is-suance of counterfeits almost impossible of detection. Senator Martine, urging that these protests be printed as a publi document, reached into his pocket to illstrate how notes were damaged, but found he had none of Uncle Sam's prom-less to pay.

Reed Smoot, who opposed circulating printed copies of these protests at government expense, generously offered to lend Mr. Martine a dollar William, and started across the chamber, his hand going toward his purse. Mr. Martine declined the offer, with the statement that he supposed all Senators knew what the treasury notes looked like, anyhow. Senator Gallinger retorted that he knew only those of very small denominations. Other Senators agreed with him, and a general disciaimer of eligibility to the millionaire class followed. In the end the document Mr. Martine sought print was not permitted, but the ag tion indicates that the days of the treasory laundry will soon be over
